EDITOR OF STATE PAPERS,

Statement.

At the annual meeting of the Congregational Society of Littleton, N. H., 1896, the pastor was present and stated that the church sorely needed a manual. Mr. John S. Renfrew volunteered to solicit the necessary funds for its publication. A committee was chosen and instructed to compile and have printed a manual of the church. This being the first printed manual of the church, it required time and much hard work to produce such a treatise as the committee designed to publish. Mr. John F. Tilton has labored unceasingly in preparing the papers which will be found under their proper heads. Others have given much time and willing-hearted effort to make up this volume.

Please reserve all criticism for the next manual. This work is not perfect. It has been a hard matter for your committee, out of so much and so good material, to select such portions as will be of interest and profitable. That the church needed such a guide to her affairs all will make haste to admit. It is confidently hoped that this little book will prove valuable history for the present constituency of the church and that it will be an inspiration to "the children's children" to keep the commandments of the Lord God.

By this written record of the fathers and mothers let the coming generation be more zealous to make even better history for the eye of the future. May it come to pass that the kingdom of God shall be advanced and the reign of righteousness be more speedily ushered in, because, "with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation."

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

History and Principles of Congregationalism.

The church known as the Congregational church has a rich and varied history. Among the Pilgrim Congregationalists within that precious cabin of the Mayflower were William Brewster, William Bradford, John Carver, Edward Winslow and Miles Standish. The Puritans soon followed and settled at Salem, Mass. These, too, viz., John Winthrop, John Endicott, Thomas Hooker, John Cotton and Richard Mather, made good stuff for Congregationalism.

In 1633 Rev. John Cotton arrived from England and became pastor of the first church in Boston He may be said to be the father of American Congregationalism, as he gave to all the churches in that region the name "Congregational," a name which most happily expresses the source of its authority and the broadness of its faith.

The principles of this church were early stated by the church at Scrooby. It is that "each church or society of Christians * * is a body—corporate, having full power within itself to admit and exclude members; to choose and ordain officers without being accountable to classis, convocations, synods, councils or any jurisdiction whatever." Independent and free in its policy, Congregationalism gives the largest Christian liberty to the disciple and insists upon no denominational peculiarities as the basis of fellowship. This church was and is known in England and Wales as the Independent church. Two distinguishing marks of this church are its high regard for education and its missionary zeal. This church holds to the absolute equality of all believers under the one headship of Jesus Christ. The local church with every member a right to a voice or a vote on every question is its highest tribunal.

The adherents of this church believe in it because of its freedom and flexibility, its breadth, its independence of any and all ecclesiastical domination, and its simplicity of church government.

We believe the scriptures teach that each individual is responsible to God for his religious faith, and that all who will may approach God directly without the aid of priest, bishop or other dignitaries. The one sentiment emphasized by this church is well put in God's Book of the Law, "One is your teacher and all ye are brethren."

Historical Sketch.

By A. S. BATCHELLOR.

In 1764, by the grant of a certain tract of land lying on the fifteen-mile falls between Lancaster, Concord, now Lisbon and Lyman, the territory since known as Littleton was first known geograpically as Chiswick. This township then had no civilized inhabitants. In 1770 a new grant of the tract was made by the name of Apthorp. This superceded Chiswick. Apthorp was settled in the spring of 1770 by Captain Caswell. This name was continued till 1784, when the legislature, at the instance of the proprietors, divided the township, giving one part the name of Littleton for Col. Moses Little, and the other Dalton for Hon. Tristram Dalton, afterwards a United States Senator from Massachusetts. No religious history of Apthorp has been transmitted. The first item in the records in regard to religious matters indicates that in 1790 Rev. Mr. Atkinson ministered to the people of the town for six months. This was probably Rev. Jonathan Atkinson, a graduate of Dartmouth in 1787. March 18, 1800, voted "to choose a committee to direct the selectmen in fixing a senter place in town to hold town meetings and hold meetings for preaching." Voted "Capt. Williams, Capt. Haskins, Andrew Rankin and Mr. Robins be the committee aforesaid." In 1802 the town voted $100 for preaching. In 1802 or 1803 Rev. John Lord preached for a while in town. The record is as follows: "March 15, 1803. Voted to allow Capt. James Williams his account of $7.25 for paying and boarding Rev. John Lord, a minister. Voted to allow Mr. Asa Lewis $5.00 paid to Rev. John Lord." Mr. Lord was a graduate of Dartmouth in 1799.

The town voted in 1811 to subscribe $200 towards a house for religious worship. Moses Little, Esq., of Newbury, Mass., the principal land proprietor of the town, had offered to give two acres for a building lot. This offer was accepted, and preliminary steps were taken toward the erection of a house of worship. The house, however, was not finally completed till 1815, and it was to be occupied by the several denominations uniting in its erection in proportion to the amount they respectively owned. The first house of worship was located near the center of the town, some two miles away from the principal place for business where the village has grown up. In 1834 another house was erected in the village, costing about $2000, and a vestry was built underneath in 1853. In 1874 the church was remodeled, both as to its exterior and interior, and assumed the appearance and conditions as now presented. The present commodious chapel was erected in 1883. The modern parsonage on High street was built in 1888 at a cost of about $6000, and is the only one ever owned by the society.

The Congregational Church was organized in 1803 by Rev. David Goodall, a citizen of the town, and Rev. Asa Carpenter, pastor of the church in Waterford, Vt. At its organization it consisted of about ten members. A few others were soon added, but, having no pastor and enjoying but little ministerial labor, its growth was very slow. In 1820, the time of the settlement of the first pastor, it numbered 35. At the present time the resident and non-resident members in full standing are 234. The whole number that have been connected with the church cannot be accurately given, but it is not far from 700. (For Pastors and Officers see table.)

Reception of Members.

The first Covenant and Articles of Faith was adopted by the church about the year 1820. After eleven articles of faith are given they finish with the following statement: "Although the foregoing articles express our present views of some of the most important doctrines of the gospel, yet we feel bound to take the word of God as our rule of faith and practice; not to rest on present attainments but to search the scriptures daily for further light and instruction." After the covenant the following is added: "This our covenant we consider not as creating obligations one toward another, but expressive of the views we have of our obligations as members of Christ's body of our intentions to walk according to the will of Christ and to promote the interest of his kingdom in this world."

The next covenant was adopted by the church January 22, 1840, "to be read publicly to those presenting themselves for admission to the church." This covenant underwent a few verbal changes in 1873, and continued to be the creed of the church till 1889, when the following was adopted :

Confession of Faith and Covenant.

UPON RECEPTION INTO MEMBERSHIP.

As the minister reads the names of candidates they shall present themselves before the pulpit, both those coming upon confession and those bringing letters from other churches. Receiving them with such words of Scripture as he may choose, he shall say:

The Lord Jesus Christ has said, "Whosoever shall confess me before men, him will I confess before my Father which is in heaven." Such confession let us now make, whether for the first time or in renewal of earlier vows.

Confession of Faith.

I believe in one living and true God, Creator, Preserver, and ruler of all things; absolute in power, glorious in holiness, plenteous in mercy and truth.

In the Father Almighty, Lord of an infinite majesty, whose commandment is holy and just and good; who so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son for its redemption;

And in Jesus Christ His Son, our Lord, who was in the beginning with God and was God; who became man, and suffered on the cross to take away the sin of the world; He arose from the dead, ascended up on high, and sitteth on the right hand of the Father, whence He shall come to judge the world in righteousness, that every one may receive the things done in the body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad:

And in the Holy Ghost, the Comforter, Lord and Giver of Life, through whom alone we are renewed, sanctified, and kept unto eternal life; by whose inspiration the Scriptures were given; who, with the Father and the Son, together one God, is supremely to be worshiped and glorified, world without end.

Before Almighty God I humbly acknowledge my guiltiness, and casting myself upon His infinite mercy and goodness I trust for the forgiveness of sins, through our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

I believe in one church on earth and in heaven; in one baptism of water and of the Spirit; in the communion of the body and blood of Christ; and I look for the resurrection of the dead and the life everlasting: AMEN.

The Minister shall then say:

Hear the words of our Lord Jesus: "Go ye therefore and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost."

To those baptized in infancy:

You who in childhood were brought into God's covenant with believing parents, do now accept their act as your baptism, declaring your belief that the regeneration thereby symbolized has been wrought in your souls by the Holy Ghost?

They assent. To any not baptized:

You who have never been privileged to receive the outward seal of the covenant, trusting that your hearts have been renewed and that God has adopted you as children of His grace, will now receive the symbol of your faith in baptism.

Candidates shall kneel in turn to receive the rite.

Accepting with heartfelt belief these great truths of the glorious gospel of the blessed God, you do now reverently and joyfully enter into covenant with Him and with this church.

Covenant.

You do seriously, deliberately, and forever, give up yourselves in faith and love and holy obedience to God, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, to live not for the world but for Him who hath redeemed you to Himself. You engage that, abiding henceforth in Him, you will strive to cultivate within you the fruits of the Spirit, faithfully seeking His promised aid in holy ordinances, in the study of the Word, in sanctifying the Lord's day, and calling upon Him in prayer.

You accept the watch and care of this church. You promise to study its purity and peace; to love and help its members as brethren; to attend and to contribute to the support of its worship; till we all come, in the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ.

Thus you covenant with God and with us?

We, then, the members of this church, do joyfully receive you into our fellowship and communion, and give thanks to God who hath inclined your heart to fear His name. We promise to treat you with affection, to watch over you with tenderness, and to offer our prayers to the great Head of the church that you may be enabled to fulfill this solemn covenant.

The Minister shall say:

And now, beloved, ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God; and are built upon the foundation of the prophets and apostles, Jesus Christ Himself being the chief corner stone.

Here all bow the head in prayer.

For this cause we make supplication unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, that He would grant you, according to the riches of His glory, to be strengthened with might by His spirit in the inner man; that Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height, and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge.

The Lord bless you and keep you; the Lord make His face to shine upon you, and be gracious unto you; the Lord lift up His countenance upon you and give you peace.

Now unto Him who is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy, to the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever. Amen.

Here the minister in behalf of the church will give to each the right hand of fellowship.

Baptism of Children.

(Parents desiring to have their children baptized are requested to bring them, if convenient, on Communion Sabbath. They are also requested to give the pastor suitable notice, together with the child's name and date of birth.)

In presenting this child for baptism, you profess your faith in the covenant made by God with Abraham, ratified by Christ, and perpetuated under the Christian dispensation. As Abraham, the father of the faithful, entered into covenant with God, and his seed after him, so do you now covenant with him in the dedication of this child to his service. You hereby engage to be faithful to your parental relations; to pray for and with this child; to instruct him (her) in the doctrines and duties of our holy religion; to set an example of godliness before him (her); and to endeavor, by all the means of divine appointment, relying much upon the gracious influences of the Holy Spirit, to prepare him (her) for full admission to the visible church on earth, and the church triumphant in heaven.

Jesus said, "suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God." And he took them up in his arms, put his hands upon them, and blessed them. *

BAPTISM.

PRAYER.

*Mark 10: 14, 16.

Rules and By-Laws.

I.

The officers of the church shall be a pastor, the deacons, clerk, treasurer, auditor, Sunday school superintendent and standing committee.

II.

The pastor shall be chosen by the church, the society concurring. He shall be a member of the church, shall have the charge of the pulpit and be the moderator of its meetings. It shall be his duty to watch over the spiritual interests of the church, to preach the gospel, to administer the ordinances, attend to the religious instruction of his flock, to plan the church work, to set them to work and to watch over them in the work.

III.

The deacons shall be four in number. Their term of service shall be four years. They shall be so elected that there shall be but one natural vacancy in a year. It shall be their duty to assist in the administration of the sacraments, to minister to such of the congregation as are in affliction, to bear to the needy ones of the church the church's aid, and to provide for the conduct of the devotional meetings in the absence of the pastor, and in general to assist in the spiritual care of the congregation.

IV.

The clerk shall be chosen annually and serve for one year. The clerk shall keep the records of the church, together with the important historical facts and statistics of the church; issue letters of dismission by direction of the church, and report to the church at the annual meeting a detailed account of the progress and life of the church for the year.

V.

The treasurer shall be chosen annually and serve for one year. The office of the treasurer shall be to receive and keep the money of the church and pay it out at the order of the standing committee; take charge of the benevolent contributions and disburse them to authorized receivers whose order or receipt shall be for vouchers, and shall report at the annual meeting.

VI.

The auditor shall be chosen annually and serve one year. He shall audit the accounts of the treasurer and report at the annual meeting.

VII.

The Sunday school superintendent shall be chosen annually by the pastor, deacons, and teachers of the school as electors in accordance with the constitution, and serve for one year. He or she shall be the responsible head of the Sunday school and shall make detailed reports to the church at the annual meeting of the church of its progress and life for the year.

VIII.

The standing committee shall consist of the pastor, who shall be its chairman, the deacons, clerk, superintendent of the Sunday school, president of the Christian Endeavor Society, and two other members of the church chosen annually by the church to serve for one year.

It shall be the duty of this committee to examine applicants for admission to the church, to supervise matters of discipline and propose and bring before the church such cases as may require its action, to aid the clerk in revising the roll of membership, to recommend annually to the church a plan of systematic beneficence, to promote as far as possible the systematic activity and highest efficiency of the church. They shall keep a record of the proceedings and report annually to the church. The regular meeting of the committee shall be on the first Monday evening of each month.

IX.

Membership in the church requires credible evidence of evangelical christian faith and character. Each member has equal and essential rights, powers and privileges, and is under equal obligation with every other member according to his or her ability to promote the temporal and spiritual interests of the church. Persons desiring to unite with the church on profession of faith shall at an appointed time meet the standing committee, who shall report to the church at a regular or special meeting its action, giving the names of such as in their judgment are worthy to become members of the church.

Persons desiring to unite with the church by letter shall present their letter to the standing committee, who will examine the case and if no objection is found recommend the person named in the letter to the church for its action; when accepted by vote of the church they shall be received to membership in full on their public assent to the covenant of this church. The names of all persons proposing to unite with the church shall be announced from the pulpit the Sunday preceding the communion, or in special cases on the Sunday of the communion. (Any not approved by the standing committee have the right of appeal to the church.)

All accepted by vote of the church become members by giving their public assent to the confession of faith and covenant at the communion.

X.

Letters of dismission to another church may be applied for through the pastor or clerk at any church prayer meeting, and if granted by the church shall be issued by the clerk before the end of the following week. The dismission, however, shall not be recorded as complete until a certificate has been returned from the church to which the letter was addressed.

XI.

Members of the church having removed to another place, and there making a home, are advised to take a letter to join some church. If they do not withdraw within a year they shall be reminded of their duty by the pastor or clerk. If they do not respond to this letter, nor to the invitation to be present at the annual fellowship meeting, nor notify some one to answer to their name at the roll call, nor send a letter giving reasons for absence, their names shall be presented to the standing committee and by them to the church for its action.

XII.

Baptism of infants may be administered at any public service of the church. The church urges upon christian parents the observance of a rite that is the seal of the covenant which God extends to the children of believers and by which such children are brought into very close relations to the church, becoming the special subjects of religious influence, consecration and prayer.

XIII.

There shall be an annual fellowship meeting in the month of November, the date to be determined by the standing committee. All members shall be notified by printed program, and they are expected to respond to their names at roll call, either in person or by letter. This applies to members who live in town and to non-resident members. There shall be a supper in connection with the annual fellowship meeting.

XIV.

The annual meeting for hearing reports from all departments of church work, for election of officers and for other business shall be held in the month of November at such time and place as the standing committee shall designate. At this meeting the general welfare of the church shall be discussed. All officers chosen at this meeting shall enter upon their duties on the first day of January following the election of said officers.

XV.

Special meetings for business may be called by the pastor or the standing committee; any five members can call a business meeting by a written request therefor. All meetings for business, including the annual meeting shall be announced from the pulpit on the Sunday preceding the same. At any regular prayer meeting of the church letters of dismission may be granted, steps of discipline inaugurated, the admission of new members voted upon, delegates chosen to represent the church at councils or conventions, and any action taken with reference to the spiritual welfare of the church, but no other business shall be transacted.

XVI.

The term of service of all officers and committees in all departments of church work shall end with the official year of the same—but all incumbents shall continue in office until their successors are appointed. All retiring officers and committees whose reports are not otherwise ordered will make report of their services at the annual meeting, either through their chairman or the pastor.

XVII.

All elections shall be by ballot and shall be determined by ballot, and shall be determined by a majority of the votes cast, except in case of deacons, to whose election a two-thirds vote is necessary.

XVIII.

Official vacancies occurring between the annual meetings may be filled for the unexpired term at any business meeting, notice of the business proposed being given from the pulpit on the previous Sunday.

XIX.

The rules given by Christ (Matt. 18: 15-18.) are to be followed by members of this church in case of private offense; the spirit of this scripture must govern all disciplining action of the church when wrong has been done to the church by immoral conduct, cherished disbelief or continued neglect of covenant obligations. Fellowship may be withdrawn when a member still resident has abandoned his connection with the church by two years of absence, or by neglect of its service and communion, after due notice has been given of the action intended.

XX.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper shall be observed on the first Sunday in January, March, May, July, September and November. At each communion service a contribution shall be made to assist needy members and to defray necessary expenses.

Two deaconesses shall be elected, one for two years and one for one year, subject to re-election as the church shall vote at its annual meeting. It shall be their duty to visit strangers and invite them to identify themselves with some church; to visit the aged and sick, or to apprise the pastor of his needed presence. They shall be the pastor's "Lookout Committee" with reference to any person or persons in the parish who may in their judgment need the watch and care of the church and pastor. They shall be ready to perform any duty which may properly come under the supervision of said deaconesses. They shall be members of the standing committee.

Sunday School.

The first Sunday school of which anything is known was held in the year 1816 on the Meadows, in a log house which was the home of Nathaniel K. Hardy, a licensed preacher. Mrs. Hardy gathered eight or ten children about her on Sunday afternoon and taught them verses from the Bible. When the family left town two years later, the school was given up.

Another school, formed some years later than the first, was held in the old meeting house on the hill, and in 1833, when the church building was erected in the village, united with the school in existence there. The latter was formed by some good people who, feeling that their children ought to study the Bible, gathered about twenty of the boys and girls on Sunday afternoon and passed the time in learning verses which some one would explain. At first the place of meeting was in a schoolhouse on what is now Pleasant street. Later a building on the present site of Robinson's drug store was used. Among the first teachers were Hon. Henry A. Bellows, Miss Eliza Bellows and Mrs. Kate Sumner.

Graded question books were introduced in 1840, were exchanged in 1873 for the International lessons, which in turn gave place to Peloubet's, and these in 1893 to the Blakeslie series.

In 1856 there were about fifteen classes. The order of exercises was much the same as at present.

The year 1865 marks the adoption of a constitution which was as follows: "Constitution of the First Congregational Sunday school of Littleton, N. H. The officers of the society shall consist of a superintendent, secretary, treasurer and librarian. The annual meeting for the choice of officers shall be the first Sabbath in June (afterwards changed to the second Sunday in May.) The officers chosen at the organization of the society to hold their office until the first Sunday in June, or until their successors are chosen." This constitution was used until 1889, when another was drawn up which has been used since that time.

Soon after the opening of the village Sunday school a library was begun by each member furnishing a certain amount of money. This library was exchanged several times previous to 1876, at which time it contained about 300 volumes. These were finally exchanged with the Methodist Sunday school. Soon $150 was raised by subscription and new books were purchased. In 1878 Mr. B.W. Kilburn gave to the school $33 which was used for books, and in 1889 he gave $100 for the same purpose. At present the library consists of some 700 volumes, numbered and catalogued.

In 1884 the school undertook the furnishing of a double room at Whitman college and sent $33, besides bedding for the same. When the first missionary ship, "The Morning Star," was built, nearly every scholar took a share in it, receiving a certificate of stock on the payment of 25 cents. For several years $25 was sent annually to Turkey to be used in educating a native boy. Two years ago money was contributed to build a schoolhouse in India. In 1894 the school assumed the tuition of a colored boy at Hampton, Va. In July of 1895 the congregation were much interested in listening to Mr. David Yeretsian, who, by the gifts of this Sunday school and church had been enabled to take a two-years' course in a Protestant educational institution in America.

In the year 1864 the ladies formed a Sabbath School Sewing Society and organized for the benefit of the Sunday school. In three meetings they numbered 50, meeting from house to house, paying an admission fee of five cents and an annual fee of 25 cents. When three meetings had been held they had raised the sum of $60 for Sunday school books. At the sixth meeting, by the proceeds of a levee they had raised $90. In 1887 and 1888 one of the classes in the school formed themselves into a society, calling them the "Hillside Gleaners." They met to sew, and devoted the proceeds to assisting a little India girl. These societies were in existence about a year.

Constitution of Sunday School, Adopted 1896.

I.

Sec. 1. The name of this school shall be the Congregational Sabbath School of Littleton, N. H.

Sec. 2. Its object shall be to acquire a knowledge of the Bible for the purpose of bringing souls to Christ and of building up souls in Christ.

II.

Sec. 1. Any person may become a member of this school by regularly attending it for three months and signing this constitution, or causing his (or her) name to be signed by the teacher of his (or her) class.

SEC. 2. The school shall consist of three departments, viz., Senior, Junior and Intermediate.

SEC. 3. The Junior department in general shall embrace all those scholars who in the day schools are not beyond the third reader, to about 12 years of age. The Intermediate department shall embrace scholars from 12 to 18 years of age, and the Senior all those above 18 years of age.

III.

SEC. 1. The officers of the school shall consist of a superintendent, secretary, treasurer, librarian and an executive committee of five, two of which committee shall be the pastor of the church and the superintendent, ex officio.

SEC. 2. All the officers except the assistant superintendent and librarian shall be elected by ballot.

SEC. 3. The superintendent, secretary, treasurer, and the three elective members of the executive committee shall be chosen by electors consisting of the pastor, deacons of the church and teachers of the school.

SEC. 4. The assistant superintendent and librarian shall be appointed by the superintendent, subject to the approval of a majority of the executive committee.

SEC. 5. The officers shall be chosen or appointed to serve for one year, or, if to fill vacancies, to serve till the end of the school year.

IV.

SEC. 1. It shall be the duty of the superintendent to preside at all the meetings and sessions of the school, and to conduct its exercises.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of the assistant superintendent to exercise the duties of the superintendent in his absence, and to assist the superintendent as he may desire.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the secretary to keep a record of all the meetings of the school and the attendance upon its sessions.

SEC. 4. It shall be the duty of the treasurer to receive and take care of all collections and funds of the school, and pay them out as the school may direct.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the librarian to take care of the library of the school.

SEC. 6. It shall be the duty of the executive committee to classify and promote scholars, select teachers, appoint music, library, concert, festival and other committees, and to look after the general welfare of the school and to promote its interests.

V.

SEC. 1. The school year shall begin July 1.

SEC. 2. The time for the election of officers shall be called by the secretary upon due notice, and shall be held on or about the twentieth of June of each year.

VI.

SEC. 1. This constitution can be altered or amended by a two-thirds vote of the school at any regular session, notice of the same having been given in writing at least one week previous to the meeting called for that purpose.

Christian Endeavor.

History of the Christian Endeavor Society.

On May 22, 1885, there was held in the chapel parlor the first of a series of young people's meetings, which led to the formal organization of a Y. P. S. C. E. on September 18 of the same year, with Robert C. Langford as president. This was at first a union society, but as the other churches formed similar societies their young people withdrew and this society became nominally, though not strictly, denominational in April, 1886, when M. D. Cobleigh was elected president.

During the next year the society degenerated, the members failed to live up to its rules, and in the fall of 1887 the pastor thought best to disband the society and hold instead young people's meetings, which he led himself.

On January 2, 1891, the present Y. P. S. C. E. society was organized, the constitution of the National society was adopted, and I. C. Renfrew elected president.

Though many of the charter members have gone on to broader fields of work, the society, augmented by new members, has been slowly but steadily growing ever since, the largest addition being at a special consecration meeting December 3, 1893, when 32 active and two associate members were received. There are now 87 members, active and associate. The officers of the society have been elected semi-annually. The number of committees has varied from six to nine, but the most efficient work has been done by the outlook and prayer-meeting committees. The regular prayer meetings of the society were held on Friday evening until January, 1892, when they were changed to Sunday evening. In July, 1895, it was voted to combine the Christian Endeavor and the regular Tuesday evening meeting, temporarily, an arrangement which has been harmoniously carried out.

On July 14, 1895, the society entertained the White Mountain Union, and a very interesting and inspiring convention was the result. There have since been two similar "rallies" here on the occasion of the State president's visit.

The society sent a delegate to the National conventions of 1892, 1894, 1895 and 1896, and one or more delegates each of these years to the State convention. Beginning in November, 1891, $40 has been sent annually for the support of a native preacher in Madura, India, and in January, 1895, two barrels of clothing were sent to the Nebraska sufferers.

Three times death has entered the society, taking Eddie Heath in the beginning of his Christian life, Fred Renfrew, who joined the society from Bradford, Vt., a short time before his last illness, and Minnie B. Tilton, one of its most helpful workers and supporters. She had been president and was vice-president at that time. She was always at her post and faithful to her pledge, sending from her deathbed her last response to the roll call.

The following is the list of presidents: M. D. Cobleigh, I. C. Renfrew, M. B. Tilton, C. A. Williams and E. I. Sanger.

Officers for 1896—First Half.

Miss Ellen I. Sanger,	President.
Irvin C. Renfrew,	Vice President.
Miss Myrtie E. Powers,	Recording Secretary
Herbert R. Blodgett,	Cor. Secretary and Treasurer.

Chairmen of Committees: Lookout, Herbert R. Blodgett; Prayer meeting, Irvin C. Renfrew; Social, Miss Louisa Wellman; Sunday school, Mrs. C. C. Morris; Missionary, Mrs. John H. Hoffman: Temperance, Mrs. Solon L. Simonds; Music, Mrs. Fred E. Green: Advertising, Edmund R. Lucas.

Executive Committee: The pastor and officers of the church ex-officio, and the above chairmen.

Meetings: Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock. Business meeting the first Tuesday of each month. Consecration meeting the last Tuesday in each month.

Motto: For Christ and the Church.

Object.

To promote an earnest Christian life among our members, to increase their mutual acquaintance, and to make them more useful in the service of God.

The following is the active members' pledge:

Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise Him that I will strive to do whatever he would like to have me do; that I will make it the rule of my life to pray and to read the Bible every day, and to support my own church in every way, especially by attending all her regular Sunday and mid-week services, unless prevented by some reason which I can conscientiously give to my Saviour; and that, just so far as I know how, throughout my whole life, I will endeavor to lead a Christian life.

As an active member I promise to be true to all my duties, to be present at and to take some part, aside from singing, in every Christian Endeavor prayer meeting, unless hindered by some reason which I can conscientiously give to my Lord and Master. If obliged to be absent from the monthly consecration of the society, I will, if possible, send at least a verse of Scripture to be read in response to my name at the roll-call.

Art. 5. Any person may become a member of this society by the payment of $1 annually.

Ladies' Home Missionary Society.

Organized 1815.

In 1804 the first woman's missionary society in this country was instigated by Mrs. Elizabeth McFarland, wife of Rev. Asa McFarland, pastor of the First Congregational church of Concord, N. H. The object was to raise funds to assist in carrying on the work of the New Hampshire Home Missionary Society, which was organized in 1801. The woman's society was called the New Hampshire Female Cent Institution. The women of the Littleton church, (the Congregational, the only church in the town at that time and for many years later) made a contribution to the New Hampshire Female Cent Institution without any official organization, rules or by-laws, except that each member should pay one cent a week or 52 cents yearly. The first contribution was made in 1815 without any paraphernalia of officers or by-laws. The collection of a few dollars has been continued annually and sent to the treasurer of the Female Cent Institution vitually up to date, 1896.

In 1836, at a monthly concert of prayer for foreign missions, (then observed on the first Monday of each month,) Mr. Evarts Worcester, who was present as a candidate for the pastorate of the church, proposed a collection for foreign missions in connection with the monthly meetings. The proposal was accepted, and a monthly contribution to the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions was continued for 45 years. The old Bible and tract societies were recipients of contributions from this church, and as the various other societies have been organized and carried on by the Congregational church this church has co-operated to some extent, with what degree of faithfulness is known to the Great Head of the church.

An auxiliary to the New Hampshire branch of the Woman's Board of Missions has been sustained since 1876, the contributions of the two ladies' societies to home and foreign missions amounting to $50 yearly. The Christian Endeavor Society has given $40 annually toward the support of a boy in a mission school in India. The Sunday school gave $30 in 1892 and 1895 to help a colored boy at Hampton Institute.

The Congregational Year Book shows a commendable advance in the benevolences of this church for the last ten years. This is not, perhaps, to be attributed to an enlarged spirit of the church in general, but to the ability and generosity of a very few individuals.

The ladies of this church and society have from time to time sent valuable boxes of clothing to the Orphans' Home in Franklin, also to the Home Missionary families in the far west. The benevolences of 1895 were $960.

Constitution.

ART. 1. This society shall be called the Home Missionary Society of Littleton, N. H., auxiliary to the New Hampshire Female Cent Institution and Home Missionary Union.

ART. 2. Its object shall be to diffuse home missionary intelligence, to increase an interest in home missionary work, and to raise funds for carrying it forward.

ART. 3. Its officers shall be a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and executive committee consisting of three members.

ART. 4. At least one-third of the annual receipts of the society shall be given to the New Hampshire Home Missionary Society for the benefit of feeble churches in our own state. The remainder may be expended for missionary work through any of the existing Home Missionary societies, and in such proportion as the members may determine.

ART. 5. Any woman may become a member of this society by the payment of not less than 52 cents a year. Gentlemen are invited to become honorary members by the payment of one dollar annually.

ART. 6. Mission Bands may be auxiliary to this society, membership fee 25 cents or two cents a month. Infant class membership fee one cent a month.

The first society of which any record is known was in 1849. A few ladies met and formed what was called the Ladies' Charitable Society. The meetings were held in private houses, to which all ladies were invited to come as soon after dinner as possible and make garments, bedding, comfortables, etc., and the gentlemen were invited to a mite society in the evening. Many were the families helped by these good ladies, and the proceeds of the evening went towards some object to benefit the church. The following were the officers: Mrs. Otis Batchellor, president; Mrs. Sylvanus Balch, vice president; Mrs. John W. Balch, secretary and treasurer; Miss Maria Moore and Miss Adelia Brackett (Tilton,) directresses. By the result of the mite societies the ladies were able to re-carpet the aisles of the church and the pulpit stand, each pew being furnished by the person occupying it, and adding a new sofa, chairs, desk, etc.

The bell was purchased by subscription. Many were the objects discussed and enterprises contemplated at these meetings. As one outgrowth of these meetings the cemetery society was formed in 1851, and the ladies have continued their interest there to the present time. Another part of this society made their special object the formation of the Littleton Village Library. This movement of the formation of a library was started in 1861, and articles of incorporation were issued in 1867. The library was carried on entirely by the ladies until merged into the town library in 1888. Again in the year 1866 were the ladies of the society in the midst of the battle. The men had met time after time but did not seem to progress any, and were about ready to give up the prospect of having a system of graded schools and a first-class building instead of three old ones, because there were many who thought it would cost too much. This condition of affairs coming to the ears of the ladies, at one of their meetings they appointed a committee to visit places where the graded school had been tried, looked over different locations, and offered, if the men would buy the place now occupied on School street, to give the sum of $200 toward paying for the same. A new organ was bought by the ladies society about the year 1864. When the church was remodeled in 1874, the ladies furnished carpets, cushions, etc. The pulpit furniture was given in memory of Mrs. Susan T. Eastman and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Tilton by their children.

For many years the ladies have sent bedding, clothing, etc., to the Children's Home in Franklin. They have a room there called the "Littleton Room" which is always kept in repair by them.

Again during the war these good ladies were not behind those in other towns in helping the soldiers who were away. At the building of the chapel in 1883, and up to the present time, the furniture and fixtures have been furnished by the ladies. A festival given in 1885 allowed them to procure a piano for the chapel, Mr. J. C. Goodenough kindly giving $100 towards the same. In 1882 Mrs. Richard Taft and Mrs. Ida T. Eastman presented the church with a fine pipe organ in memory of their husband and father, Richard Taft. Many of the furnishings at the parsonage were the result of the work of the ladies' society, while in 1895 they applied $639 toward the debt on the parsonage.

Constitution.

ART. 1. The object of this society is to promote sociability, and work or raise funds for such objects as the society think best to aid.

ART. 2. The officers of this society shall be a president, two vice presidents, a secretary, treasurer, and seven directresses.

CHAUNCEY C. MORRIS, Treasurer.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE: Daniel C. Remich, John G. Bent, Chauncey C. Morris, Henry Merrill.

COMMITTEE ON MUSIC: Irving C. Renfrew, Albert S. Batchellor, Miss Julia Eaton.

The ownership of the property of the church rests legally with the society, which holds it in trust for the use of the Church. The officers of the society have the care of the church property and the management of the finances for the support of the church. The church is supported by voluntary offerings payable weekly, monthly or quarterly, at the option of the subscriber. All the pews in the house of worship are free at all the services. The fiscal year ends January 1.

By-Laws,

Adopted at the meeting of the society held at the meeting house in Littleton village, February 10, 1836.

ART. I. Any person hiring one seat or more in the First Congregational church in Littleton, N. H., and paying for the same, may present his (or her) name to the society for membership, and upon receiving a majority of the votes of the members present and signing the articles of the association of the First Congregational society of Littleton, N. H., may become a member of the same as long as he continues to pay for one seat or more.

ART. 2. The officers of the society shall consist of a president, secretary, treasurer, and an executive committee of five including the president, secretary and treasurer, and they shall be chosen by ballot.

ART. 3. Each member of the society shall be entitled to one vote in all meetings of the corporation, and a majority of the votes shall govern in all cases. (Except in the alteration of or addition to the by-laws of the society, in the raising and appropriation of monies, and in the settlement and dismissal of a pastor, in which specific cases the concurrent votes of three-fourths of the members present at the meeting when they are acted upon shall be necessary.)

ART. 4. On application in writing of five or more members of the society, the secretary, or in case of his death, resignation or absence, the president, shall call special meetings of the corporation by personal notices to each member thereof by posting up notices thereof in writing by him signed, at one or more public places in Littleton village, and at least one other public place in the town of Littleton, ten days previous to the meeting, and said notices shall specify the objects of the meeting, and the annual meetings of the society shall be notified in the same manner.

ART. 5. The annual meetings of the society shall be held on the second Wednesday of February annually, at two of the clock in the afternoon, at the meeting house in Littleton village or at such other place in said village as the secretary may appoint; or if the president notify the meeting, at such place in said village as he may appoint, at which meeting all necessary officers shall be chosen to continue in office one year and until others shall be chosen in their places; and in case of the death, resignation, or absence of any of said officers before their term of office shall otherwise expire, their places may be filled by others who may be chosen at a special meeting called for that purpose.

ART. 6. It shall be the duty of the president to preside at all meetings of the society, but in his absence a moderator to govern said meeting, chosen on the occasion, shall preside. The secretary shall keep the records of the society. The treasurer shall collect and receive all monies due to the society, keep a record of the same, pay them out by order of the executive committee, and submit his records and accounts to the inspection of such person or persons as the society may appoint to audit the same. The executive committee shall devise ways and means to raise funds for the support of the gospel and for all necessary purposes relating to said society, and direct the concerns and watch over the interests of the society generally.

ART. 7. All monies shall be appropriated by vote of the society.

Article five amended September 20, 1854. Changed to the Wednesday after the second Tuesday in September.

September 10, 1884, above changed to the second Wednesday in January.

By-Laws Amended February 2, 1892.

Any person of legal age annually contributing in recognized methods to the support of the First Congregational church of Littleton may present their names to the society for membership at any regular or special meeting, and upon receiving a majority vote of the members of the society present and signing the articles of association, shall become a member of the same and remain a member so long as they contribute as aforesaid.

The committee are under special obligation to the Committee on Town History for many of the facts they have been able to give.
